

- 704 Polger, T.W., & Shapiro, L.A. (2010). The realization book. Oxford University Press.
- 705 Robert, J.S. (2004). Embryology, epigenesis, and evolution. Taking development seriously.
706 Cambridge University Press.
- 707 Russell, B. (1910). Philosophical essays. Longmans, Green.
- 708 Sarkar, S. (1996). Biological information: A skeptical look at some central dogmas of molecular 709 biology. In S. Sarkar (Ed.), The philosophy and history of molecular biology: New perspectives (pp.
710 187-231). Kluwer.
- 711 Sharov, A.A., & Vehkavaara, T. (2015). Protosemiosis: Agency with reduced representation capacity.
712 Biosemiotica, 5, 103-123. <https://doi.org/10.1007/s12304-014-9219-7>
- 713 Sørensen, B., & Thalesen, T. (2010). On the metaphor in scientific philosophy: Peircean comments.
714 Minerva. An Internet Journal of Philosophy, 14, 7-27.
- 715 Steadman, P. (2008). The evolution of designs. Biological analogy in architecture and the applied
716 arts (A revised edition). Routledge.
- 717 Thelen, L.B., & Smith, E. (1994). A dynamic systems approach to the development of cognition and 718 action. MIT Press.
- 719 Waddington, C.H. (1957). The strategy of the genes. George Allen & Unwin.
- 720 West-Eberhard, M.J. (2003). Developmental plasticity and evolution. Oxford University Press.
- 721 Wilson, A. (2011). Peirce versus Davidson on metaphorical meaning. Transactions of the Charles S.
722 Peirce Society, 47(2), 117-135. <https://doi.org/10.2979/transchapei.soc.47.2.117>
- 723 Wittgenstein, L. (1922). Tractatus logico-philosophicus. Harcourt Brace and Co.